Dear Families,

We launched our Children’s Mental Health awareness fortnight last week with assemblies on the theme of “Let’s connect!” The children were confident to explain that to stop a worry growing bigger and bigger, we need to connect with someone and talk about our worries. We will continue to explore the theme this week and to stress that connecting with other people makes us stronger and confident.

I invited the children to recommend books on the theme of “Let’s connect!” and you can see how reflective our children are from the books that have been recommended so far...

Book Recommendations

Azra & Ahlam’s recommendation is The Little Bully by Adam and Charlotte Guillane, Miss Lafferty recommends The Huge Bag of Worries by Virginia Ironside, Emily & Rayyaan recommend Pablo’s Feelings by Sumita Majumdar and Andrew Brenner and Jasleen recommends Hue Boy by Rita Phillips Mitchell.

Pink Class had a great time losing themselves in books at the library on Thursday! Mrs Elyasse reported:

Pink Class had a wonderful trip to our local library at Edmonton Green. The librarian showed us how we can find a book based on its genre and he also explained how the books are organised in alphabetical order according to the author's surname. We had the opportunity to borrow some books and we look forward to reading them in class and sharing our recommendations with our teachers and peer.

Sports Personality of the week!

This week Sports Personality of the Week is ... Zuleyha (Blue)

Zuleyha had an outstanding PE lesson last Tuesday. Blue class have been doing gymnastics since November and have been working on different gymnastics movements. Her overall gymnastics techniques have got better and better each week & Mr. Samuel has been very impressed with Zuleyha's commitment to improve and he has noticed her tremendous efforts on jumping and landing.

Brilliant work Zuleyha! This week should be fun, bring on the climbing frame!

I found this message and wanted to share it with you all.

Have a good week.

Yours sincerely,

A Goldwater
